

Australian Jesuits

Please pray for our priests, brothers and scholastics

Julian Butler SJ is currently on pastoral placement as a chaplain to students at Xavier College and as a contributor and editorial consultant at Jesuit Communications. Julian worked as a lawyer before joining the Jesuits and currently serves on the board of Jesuit Social Services.

Isaac Demase SJ works in spirituality with Jesuit and Ignatian Spirituality Australia and as a Companion of Jesuit Mission. Before joining the Jesuits he worked as a teacher, and his appreciation for the philosophy of Jesuit education helped form his calling to the Jesuits.

Matthew Pinson SJ is engaged in pastoral ministry in Wadeye, an Aboriginal community in the Northern Territory. He has a particular interest in ministry to young people and in education in a wide variety of settings, from the early primary years to university.

Enoch Choy SJ is a brother serving at Jesuit and Ignatian Spirituality Australia. He is a graduate of Fuller Theological Seminary and Yale University, a former Protestant pastor, activist and university lecturer. He currently serves as a spiritual director and an advocate for refugees.

Joshua Choong SJ is revelling in the intellectual stimulation and marvelling at the pastoral implications of theology studies at Boston College School of Theology and Ministry as he prepares for ordination. He left a career in engineering when he joined the Jesuits.

Brett O'Neill SJ was raised in the Hunter Valley of NSW. He is now studying theological ethics at Boston College, while preparing for priestly ordination. Before joining the Jesuits in 2014, he worked in the Australian Public Service in Canberra.

Ramesh Richards SJ grew up in Malaysia, where he was inspired by the example of Jesuits who worked for equality to join them in following in Jesus' footsteps. He now works with young adults, encouraging them to be agents of justice through an encounter with God.

Eka Tanaya SJ, the most newly-ordained Jesuit priest in Australia, teaches religion and commerce at St Ignatius' College in Adelaide. He has a passion for teaching and the education of young men and women. He worked in the commercial world before joining the Jesuits.
